A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

This is the age of research and experiment, when all nature, so to speak, is ransacked by the scientific for the comfort and happiness of man. Science has indeed made giant strides during the past century, and among the by no means least important discoveries in medicine comes that of THERAPION. This preparation is unquestionably one of the most genuine and reliable Patent Medicines ever introduced, and has, we understand, been used in the Continental Hospitals by Ricord, Rostan, Jobert, Velpeau, Maisonneuve, the well-known Chassagnac, and indeed by all who are regarded as authorities in such matters. Including the celebrated Lallemand, and Roux, by whom it was some time since uniformly adopted, and that it is worthy the attention of those who require such a remedy we think there is no doubt. From the time of Aristotle downwards, a potent agent in the removal of these diseases has (like the famed philosopher's stone) been the object of search of some hopeful, generous minds; and far beyond the mere power—if such could ever have been discovered—of transmuting the baser metals into gold is surely the discovery of a remedy so potent as to replenish the falling energies in the one case, and in the other so effectually, speedily and safely to expel from the system the poisons of acquired or inherited disease in all their protean forms as to leave no taint or trace behind. Such is the New French Remedy THERAPION, which may certainly rank with the cures of our day, about which no little ostentation and noise have been made, and the extensive and ever-increasing demand that has been created for this medicine wherever introduced appears to prove that it is destined to cast into oblivion all those questionable remedies that were formerly the sole reliance of medical men.—Diamond Fields Advertiser, Kimberley.

Mail will be dispatched to the States on the United States Army transport Logan, sailing at noon today.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Mrs. Nagle and Mrs. Post departed for Japan and China yesterday on the Korea.

The Catholic Ladies' Aid Society will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. A. E. Murphy, 627 Beretania street.

The Eagles will hold their regular meeting this evening. Several members are to be initiated into the mysteries of the order.

Mrs. W. K. Wright, wife of Major Wright, U. S. A., and sister of Captain Hugh Rodman, formerly in command of the U. S. S. Iroquois, is a through passenger on the transport Logan en route to San Francisco. Lieut. Rodman, a nephew of the captain, is aboard the U. S. S. Ranger.

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Monday afternoon at the residence of Goo Tai Chong, the Chinese clerk of the First National Bank. The groom was Mr. Goo Tai Chong and the bride was Dai En Wui, who arrived from China on the Siberia. She was welcomed at the dock by the Goo family. The marriage services were performed by Rev. W. D. Westervelt. The bride wore a beautiful Chinese costume and her hands were heavily laden with gold rings.

SHIPWRECKED JAPS.

The Japan Times has the following story about the transport Logan, now in port:

The U. S. transport Logan, which has just arrived at Nagasaki from Manila, has brought to Nagasaki nine shipwrecked Japanese, hailing from the Loochoo Islands. While sailing to Napha some time ago, the men were overtaken by a storm, and after drifting in the open sea for more than ten days arrived at Batian in the Philippines, from which place they were conveyed to Manila by an American ship. After staying at Manila for some days they were given a passage to Japan by the American transport.

HATTER HEARD FROM.

Detective Hatter of Honolulu police-shake-up fame is still the terror of official life. Recent coast files speak of the fine work of Charles V. Hatter, Assistant Superintendent of the San Francisco Pinkerton Agency, in the location of the defaulting Tax Collector, Edward J. Smith. It seems that he first located the woman with whom Smith was last associated and that that clue led to the arrest of Smith. This information sets to rest the theories that Hatter was a United States Secret Service man or a Morse detective.

religion. That is that it is too narrow. The old fashioned orthodox religion was so broad, so deep, so free. A great Savior for a great sinner. I know an interpretation which is called liberal religion that says there is not much the matter with you, so you don't need much, so you needn't expect much, and when you get it you won't need it very much. Old fashioned orthodoxy says, there is everything the matter with you, you need a great Savior. You can expect a great salvation. There will be a great Savior for your great sin.

"Why is it that I would rather be a guilty man than a semi-idiot? Because if I am a guilty man I know that I can be saved. In Denver a man came to me and said 'Wouldn't you like to have a real good time?' I said 'Do you think I am not having a good time? Do you think I am suffering from religion?' He said, 'I don't know, but I thought it must be painful to be so very religious.' Then I said, 'Brother, I have been proving that one can be happy in the grace of God.'"

"It is the truly liberal religion that makes a man look out into the vista of eternity and say there never will be an end to it. Saved by grace. Oh, sinner, it is great, it is free, it is for you. Will you take it?" After a moment of silent prayer Mr. Butler sang "Since I've Found My Savior." This is one of the most beautiful songs Mr. Butler has sung, and there were many moist eyes in the congregation when the singer finished. Then while a hymn was sung the men in the congregation went into the chapel for a special service, the women remaining in the auditorium for a service also.

DENOUNCE MIKI-SAITO

Japanese government. He said Mr. Saito had been here seven years and he should know the condition of the people and their relation with the immigration companies. The consul was receiving a good salary for his services. If he did not do good work, then he was a salary shark.

The speaker alleged that Mr. Saito had been a failure in public affairs. He was a "translator of newspaper reports." The speaker then went into details concerning the organization of the Central Japanese Association. The Japanese of the islands were organized into one body. The consul had not fulfilled his promises. The officers are corrupt. The laboring classes had not benefited. The laborers had given up faith in the association.

"I voice the universal sentiment of the Japanese in Hawaii," he said, "that the consul leave the islands."

Mr. Shimada spoke of another society formed to protect the Japanese laborers, from which benefits had been derived. Comparing this with that of Consul Saito's association, put the latter in the shade. He asked what justification there was for Consul Saito to be promoted. He could see none, but he believed it was a move of the government to retire him from Hawaii.

Mr. Shimada then said that when the reserves were being called home, the Central Japanese Association discriminated in giving them presents. Those who did not belong to the Association were sent away without anything, although the Consul was a prominent member of the Association. Then there was some reference to titles which the Consul was alleged to make use of in going amongst the Japanese. These were "Honorable" and "M. P." The speaker said the Japanese were not overawed by titles. They were imbued with the spirit of democracy and their reverence for titles was diminishing. "Mr. Saito is very much mistaken if he thinks he can overawe the Japanese with the title of 'M. P.' or 'Honorable.'"

"The Japanese government is not unaware of the state of the feeling of the Japanese here toward Mr. Saito. That he is about to be recalled I may say can be likened to a lamp when it goes out. At first the flame begins to flicker and then passes away into darkness."

"Mr. Saito must know of the evil practices of the immigration companies and the Kei Hin Bank, but he does not interfere to protect the Japanese. If he is aware of these practices, he must investigate and report to his government, and suggest a plan to correct the abuses, but he does nothing. If he does not know of the practices of the immigration companies and the Kei Hin Bank then he is unworthy to be retained in the position of Consul General. If he does not take measures to stop these practices then he is one of the odious clique. Mr. Saito cannot keep up the organization of the Central Japanese Society. He is like a weak horse that breaks down under the burden of three or four sacks of rice. The people here have no confidence in him."

Mr. Shimada was followed by Mr. Takei who spoke to the subject: "The earnest appeal of the 70,000 Japanese in Hawaii" following along the lines spoken of by Mr. Shimada, the latter concluding the speechmaking by remarks directed to the "odious clique."

The attack on the immigration companies is to the effect that the certificates of deposit which the immigrants bring with them to this country—the dollars they have to show the United States officials to be allowed entry into the islands—are taken up by the immigration companies and the bank named, and kept on deposit, all sorts of charges being made against the certificates. They cannot be taken out for some time, and in case of death removal, etc., it is alleged that the immigration companies and the bank are the gainers. The meeting was enthusiastic throughout.

Abraham Lincoln

was one of the shrewdest men who ever lived. He saw through men straight into their very hearts, and he said this:

"You can fool some of the people all the time, and all of the people some of the time; but you can't fool all the people all the time."

Has anybody ever summed up more forcibly a striking characteristic of the American people—of you and your friends?

Lincoln made that statement forty years ago, and today one phrase alone of it is so full of truth that you should keep it always before you. Today you cannot fool all of the people even some of the time.

Now, you know what is happening in the wool market. Raw wool is 40 per cent higher than ever before, and clothes will consequently cost more. It is a ticklish situation for everybody who is not willing to face it squarely. Already there is painfully visible some wild scurrying for cover before the storm breaks.

"Mercerized" goods are entering the field in troops. You know what they are worth in durability and character. There are other fabrics which are not even mercerized—practically straight Alabama cotton. In some cases consciences are being salved with short weight woollens substituted for regular weights. Others are made up from raw material in which cotton and wool have been carded or mixed together before being spun. Most of these impositions are so cleverly manipulated that even experts are hard put to it to say by scrutiny which is the honest piece and which the "queer." The only absolute test is the Caustic Potash Bath—the Stein-Bloch Wool Test described in this space last week.

Our Spring stock of Stein-Bloch clothes is now here. Any suit will stand the wool test as well as the test for fit and style.

Young Girls

Avoid The Dangers and Sufferings of Womanhood

Many a girl who graduates from high school or female college with a brilliant record and high standing is broken down before she is twenty.

Nowadays girls are pushed to the limit of their endurance both in school and society. They must make a success—even if they are forever unfitted for the larger school of life and debarred from wedded happiness and the bliss of motherhood.

At this time of life, when just entering upon womanhood, nature makes heavy drains upon the vitality, especially at each monthly period, the most wonderful of all tonic restorative medicines for women, will tide a young girl over this trying time and bring her safely into strong, noble, beautiful womanhood.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Experience of a Beautiful High School Girl

Her First Letter.

MY DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I write to see if you can suggest some means to cure me. A little more than a year ago I was sick with menstruation for the first time, and since then I have been sick all the time in some way or other and suffered with painful and irregular menstruation. I went to a summer resort for my health and was doctored all summer, but to no effect. I have not menstruated for two months and thought I would see if you could do me any good. I attend High School and would not like to miss any time if it is possible. MARION BARBER, North Adams, Mass.

Miss Barber writes again after two years

MY DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Some time ago I wrote to you for advice, being troubled with irregular and painful menstruation and womb disease. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and using the Sanative Wash, and I am glad to say I am completely cured and have not had any sickness since. I wish to thank you for your kind advice and shall recommend your medicine to my girl friends. MARION BARBER, 101 Bracewell Ave., North Adams, Mass.

Free Advice for Young Girls

All young girls are earnestly urged to write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Thousands of women are well, strong, and beautiful to-day because they made a confidant of Mrs. Pinkham and followed her instructions at this critical time of their lives.
